Dario Petri

He received the M.Sc. Degree (summa cum laude) and the Ph.D. Degree in Electronics engineering from the University of Padua, in 1986 and 1990, respectively.

From 1990 to 1992, he was an Assistant Professor at the University of Padua. In 1992, he joined the University of Perugia as an Associate Professor, where he became a Full Professor of measurement and electronic instrumentation in 1999.

In 2002, he joined the University of Trento, where he was the Head of Department of Information Engineering and Computer Science. Currently he is at the Department of Industrial Engineering and a member of the Presidio per la Qualità di Ateneo.

Dario Petri is currently chairing the IEEE Italy Section and the Italian Association of Electrical and Electronic Measurements (GMEE). He is an IEEE Fellow member.

Research activities of Dario Petri are focused on embedded systems and fundamentals of measurement and quality engineering.

Mario Fedrizzi

Mario Fedrizzi has been working since 1986 as Full Professor of Mathematical Methods for Economics at University of Trento, where he served also as a Dean of the Faculty of Economics from 1985 to 1995, and as a Deputy Rector from 2004 to 2008. Currently he is a member of the Department of Industrial Engineering.

Starting from 2007, he is Adjunct Professor at Åbo Akademi University (Finlan); member of the International Advisory Board of KEDRI, Auckland University of Technology (New Zealand) and of the Systems Research Institute, Polish Academy of Sciences, Warsaw (Poland).

His research activities have been focused on utility and risk theory, group decision making, fuzzy decision analysis, and decision support systems. He was also involved in consulting activities in the areas of management information systems, quality control, project management, and e-learning. From 1995 to 2006 he was appointed as chairman of a regional bank, and of a real estate company, and as a member of the board of directors of one of the largest European banking groups.
