

Mikael Collan

Profile

Mikael Collan is a professor of strategic finance at the School of Business at Lappeenranta University of Technology, Lappeenranta, Finland.

His research concentrates on profitability analysis of strategic investments, on project and investment selection under uncertainty, and on decision-support models and methods for strategic decision-making.

Mikael Collan serves on the boards of several SMEs in the IT sector and has a background in business consulting in the private sector.

Mikael Collan is a member of the IEEE.