

Chiara Lombardo

Profile

Chiara Lombardo has been working at the University of Trento since 2000, where she graduated in Modern Languages and Literatures (English and French) in 1997.

In 2004 contributed to the setting up of a central Welcome Office (which coordinated until 2010), on one side promoting measures aimed at facilitating international students and researchers in the administrative issues related to their stay, on the other side enhancing the multi-cultural dimension within the University, through the organization of socio-cultural events and seminars.

Currently works at Job Guidance Office, holding training sessions to students and new-graduates on the research strategies of an internship/first job outside Italy, and on how to prepare a successful application and interview.

Supported the implementation of the English version of the on-line course on the CV and cover letter. Deals with internships activation and international internship programs, also in collaboration with prestigious partner Institutions, such as the South Australian Government, the Italian Ministry for Foreign Affairs, ENIT (National Agency for Tourism).
