The Project "Rights on the Move" looks at the European legal dimension of the rainbow families. Our Conference has the aim to discuss and find new solutions against discrimination on how they deal with the changing landscape of parental roles, their recognition in the different European countries and how the national and the European laws protect parents at work and children rights.

"Rights on the move" started on the 1st January 2013 and lasts two years. It is headed by the University of Trento in partnership with Cgil Nuovi Diritti, the University of Toulouse P. Sabatier, the Autonomous University of Barcelona, the Peace Institute in Ljubljana and Cara-Friend in Belfast. Associate partners are the Dublin Institute of Technology and the French association L'Autre Cercle.

The project is coordinated by Alexander Schuster, University of Trento, and co-funded by the European Union DG Justice under the call JUST/2011-2012/FRC/AG.

As part of our efforts to bring Rainbow families' rights and information to as many people as possible, the conference proceedings will be published on the social media with the translation from/into English. This allows us to be more connected with European workers and citizens.
