Education

Ph.D in Economics: 1994-97; University of York – Department of Economics

M. Sc. in Economics (with distinction): 1993-94; University of York – Department of Economics

BA in Economia Politica (cum laude): 1988-93; Università degli Studi di Trento

Fields of interest

I am mainly interested in household economic choices (consumption, savings, labour supply) and their welfare consequences, with a particular attention to the influence of the socioeconomic context on intergenerational and gender inequalities. A large part of my work is based on microeconomic analyses, with applications to both developed (mainly Europeans) and developing countries. This stream of research is complemented with some theoretical and qualitative analyses. The latter focus on developing countries, to examine the elements that influence individuals' ability to make choices.

Work experience

2020 (Apr.) – present: Full Professor of Economics at the University of Trento (Department of Economics and Management).

2005 (Jan.) – 2020 (Apr.): Associate Professor of Economics at the University of Trento (Department of Economics and Management).
